Super Swing Golf is an arcade golf game developed by Apogee Software. The game features 72 courses, 45 player types, multiplayer games with up to eight players, and over 150 unlockable golf items. Super Swing Golf can be played in single player mode, or can be played in modes that include nine-hole and eighteen-hole stroke play, and match play. A fan remake of the game was released in 2014. In 2015, publisher Backflip Studios released a version of the game for macOS and Linux, using the Unity engine, titled Super Swing Golf 2. Reception Super Swing Golf has received mixed reviews from critics. Cancelled sequel In May 2007, Apogee Software CEO Sten Nelson said the company was working on a sequel to Super Swing Golf, titled Super Swing Golf 2. At the time of the release of the game, Nelson said the company is looking for a publisher to help them fund and produce the sequel. The sequel was to be released in Fall 2007. A teaser site for the game was released in November 2006, and contained gameplay footage. Apogee released the following statement: Super Swing Golf 2 has been in development for three and a half years. The original idea was to put several golfer characters, like we did with Tiger Woods PGA Tour and NHL, into golf courses, but that got in the way of what we wanted to do. The original concept was an upgrade of Super Swing Golf. Super Swing Golf 2 is not a golf game as such, but we do have a Tiger Woods in the sequel. There's a focus on golf-specific items, and we do have unlockable items.
